Sustainability Statement

At Cyclone, we recognize the importance of sustainable development in today's world. To support our commitment, we have established an Environmental Management System within the company. We are committed to reducing our environmental footprint by implementing energy efficient manufacturing processes, effective waste management and promoting a culture of environmental awareness. We have implemented key environmental controls for water treatment, waste management and air emissions.

We believe in environmental management across the entire life cycle. For life cycle stages outside of our direct control, we aim to influence our suppliers, customers and end users of our products. We expect our suppliers to provide products and services in accordance with the relevant local and national environmental regulations. At the end of the lifecycle, we expect end-users of our products to recycle parts where feasible and ensure non-recyclable parts are disposed in accordance with relevant local and national environmental regulations
